1. Pre-reading

Answer the question:

Is the English language really important in IT field?

2. Reading

Read the text and discuss the following questions:

1. Do you agree that English is a mandatory requirement for IT specialists?
2. Give your own reasons why you agree/disagree.

Does an IT Specialist Need the English Language?

It's a well-known fact that IT sphere is very popular nowadays. Everything in modern world is developing rapidly; software and technologies are no exception. But how is the English language connected with IT sphere? Lots of people say that the ability to speak English is an essential requirement for every IT specialist. And here are some main reasons.

1. The key language in the IT sphere

English is the key language in the IT world. It is used for writing program codes, for developing websites, for writing documentation and technical reports. Without knowledge of English, it is impossible to understand modern technologies and use them in practice.

2. Documentation in English

Many IT-related documents are written in English. Some documents, such as technical specifications and user manuals, may be translated into other languages, but this is often not done. Therefore, knowledge of the English language will make it easy to understand and use these documents.

3. Participation in online courses and webinars in English

Online courses and webinars have become very popular means of learning in the IT sphere. Many of them are conducted in English, so language

Key words:
- evolving rapidly – быстро (стремительно) развиваться
- mandatory requirement – обязательное требование
- user manual – руководство пользователя
- conduct – проводить
- participation – участие
- expand professional capabilities – усовершенствовать профессиональные навыки
- significantly – значительно
- prerequisite – обязательное условие

proficiency becomes the key to gaining new knowledge, establishing contacts with colleagues from other countries and expanding their professional capabilities.

4. Career development

Knowledge of the English language can significantly expand career opportunities in the IT sphere. International companies often require their employees to speak English. Without this, professionals may miss opportunities to work in large international companies and develop their careers.

5. Interacting with international colleagues

The IT sphere is international and technologies are developing all over the world. Therefore, IT specialists should communicate with their colleagues from other countries. English is the common language of communication in the international IT-sphere. Language skills will help to improve communication and understanding among colleagues.

In general, knowledge of English is a prerequisite for a successful career in the IT sphere. This language allows professionals to communicate effectively, gain new knowledge and expand their opportunities for professional development. Therefore, the professionals should seriously consider learning English and constantly improve their skills in this field.

PROJECT

Find some more information about IT specialists and their job. Say:

- Why is this profession so popular?
- What other knowledge should you have to be an IT specialist?
- What skills do you need?
- How popular is this profession among young people in your area?